Probably Greatest March of Its Kind Ever Staged Near El Paso Set in Motion Monday Morning—Trip Will Last Four Days—11 Regiments On Outing—Half As Big as Thursday's Great Procession.

PROBABLY the largest military practice hike that has ever been staged around El Paso was begun at 8 o'clock Monday morning, when the entire Pennsylvania division, numbering nearly 11,000 men, left Camp Stewart for a four-day relay march.

The soldiers, five abreast, and the wagon trains cover a distance of ten miles, just one-half of the distance covered by the men in last Thursday's military parade. They were led by Maj. Gen. C. M. Clement.

Eleven Regiments in March. Nine regiments of infantry, one of cavalry, one of artillery, three companies of engineers, two ambulance companies, two field hospitals, and the signal corps, made up the long line. The bands of the division will remain in camp, without camp leave, until the division returns, late Thursday evening.

Every man carried a twenty pound equipment on his back, while the rest of their equipment was carried by the wagon and truck trains.

Line of March. Marching from Camp Stewart through the residence sections, the line made for the smelter. The men will encamp tonight two miles up the river from the smelter.

Tuesday the line of march will lead to Anthony, N. M., where the infantry will camp on one side of the river and the wagon trains, the cavalry and artillery on the other side.

Fresh meat and bread will be sent out to the troops from El Paso every day, while the rest of the ration is being carried in the wagon train. The line will be inspected at the smelter, Monday.

Wednesday night the artillery, cavalry and the wagon trains will camp at Newman station, where the infantry will camp at Hitts ranch. The line of march will extend to Hitts ranch, where the infantry will camp Wednesday night. Leaving Hitts ranch and Newman station early Thursday morning, the division will make a fast march back to Camp Stewart, arriving there late Thursday evening.

Some Remain as Guards. Three men out of each unit, besides the band, and the men that are sick remaining at Camp Stewart. The three men are doing guard duty while the division is away. Each unit maintained a provost guard to keep the line straight and to do away with stragglers.

Sanitary troops accompanied the division to guard against accidents and sickness. Every man unfit for the hike was left at the camp.

No Dropping Out. General Clement, the commander of the division, said Sunday that he did not expect a man to drop out of the line from exhaustion.

This hike is the last of the first set of field maneuvers that the Pennsylvania men have gone through, and will improve the men greatly for field service. The next set will not be begun until definite orders are received by the headquarters as to the disposition of the Pennsylvania contingent.

The South Carolina regiment which left Pennsylvania Saturday night is due to arrive here Wednesday evening, and it is thought that the first Pennsylvania infantry will be sent home in the cars that bring the Carolina militia-men here Wednesday evening.

Machine Gun Companies Instructed. The machine gun companies that have recently been organized in the Pennsylvania infantry regiments are doing excellent work, under the instruction of the 20th infantry machine gun company. The first part of the instruction which includes entrenchment digging and the building of fortifications, was staged back of the various Pennsylvania camps last week.

It is thought when the division gets back to camp from its hike, the machine gun companies will begin target practice and short hiking with their guns. The cavalry and artillery are highly efficient in their work now and should hold a high mark in maneuvers and firing.

OHIO SQUADRON ON PATROL DUTY

Buckeye Troops To Be Stationed Near Smelter; Ball Team Want Games.

The Ohio squadron of cavalry at the present will go on outpost and border patrol duty the latter part of this week. It will be stationed at a small pass near the smelter. The squadron will be mounted and fully equipped while on patrol.

The mess tents of the Ohio troops are being constructed. Work was begun on them early Monday morning, and it is expected that all four of them will be completed by Wednesday evening.

Troopers Want Games. The lineup of the troop, a baseball team, is as follows:

1st. T. H. Nash, manager.
2nd. E. R. Jewett, catcher.
3rd. Jack Savage, pitcher.
4th. P. W. Knight, second base.
5th. A. A. Dawley, shortstop.
6th. T. O. Bolton, third base.
7th. G. O. Patterson, right field.
8th. E. E. Norton, center field.
9th. W. S. Karsulker, left field.

The troop would like very much to have a game in the near future with one of the other ball teams in El Paso.

Next Identification Tag for Troop A. Next identification tags for troop A are being made. Pillows that are blown up with air are becoming popular in the Ohio camp, and already troop A has a few.

The Ohio cavalry was entertained Friday night by the eighth Ohio infantry band. General Clement, who left for Pennsylvania in the next few days, Maj. Kelly has been appointed student instructor in one of Pennsylvania's military colleges.

100 Mile Hike Planned. A 100 mile hike into New Mexico, Nov. 1 to 15, is being proposed by the Ohio cavalry.

Pvt. Jack Savage is suffering from a horse kick in the regional hospital. He is an applicant for a 10 day leave to go to St. Joseph, Mo., to see his wife.

Troop A returned their rejected horses back to the regiment station Saturday morning and received new ones.

Pvt. Ralph Hixley was taken to the base hospital Friday afternoon, suffering with a serious ailment. A good many of the men of troop A are suffering with cranked lips which they have received while drilling on the field.

The lumber for the troop A mess hall was delivered Saturday morning and work started on it. The first thing Monday morning. A new supply of field equipment and clothes were received by the troop Saturday.

Makes 1000 Mile Trip To Rejoin Command He Missed On Way Here

"I want to report for duty with company I."

Such were private Samuel L. Akers' casual words as he dropped into regimental headquarters of the 21st Michigan infantry, after a 1000 mile southern journey from Kansas City to the border, which began July 11 and which included freight riding, weeks spent in Kansas and Oklahoma wheat fields, a brief career of diving and swimming exhibitions, and lastly a job as engineer in an ice plant at Amarillo, Texas. He made the journey to rejoin his command.

"I reckoned it was my duty to come after I had taken the oath in Ann Arbor three years ago," he said. "For the last two years Akers has been on reserve and has lived in Kansas City."

"I just missed the 21st regiment train by an hour or so," he explained. "Capt. Wilson, who is from Niles, Mich., to get on at Kansas City, told me to get on at Clifton, Kas., at that time. Well, I rode freights and hummed my way as far as Amarillo, Texas, where I got a good job as engineer on an ice plant. Here I managed to find out where the regiment was stationed by waiting in the hotel at Amarillo. I got in touch with Capt. Wilson, who wrote to the chief muster officer, and as a result my fare to El Paso was ordered paid."

GEN. FRANCISCO GONZALEZ GOES ON INSPECTION TRIP

General Francisco Gonzalez, commander of the Juarez garrison, left Monday morning on a special train for Cuernavaca and Mexico City.

It was officially announced at military headquarters in Juarez that his trip was merely an inspection. A belief was current in some circles, however, that the general's real mission was to seek information regarding the strength and movements of Francisco Villa's bandit army.

General Gonzalez and several staff officers went with the general.

It was said that the chief of staff, is in command at Juarez during the general's absence.

Unofficially, however, reliable reports in Juarez today said that the cavalry under Gen. Matias Ramos has returned to Chihuahua City after an unsuccessful search for the Villistas in the hills around Sierra de la Silla and Fresno. Although railway and telegraph between Juarez and the state capital are intact, no new reports concerning Villa's movements have reached Juarez military headquarters since Saturday.

Since Saturday, according to Col. Burton, all is peaceful in the city, he said.

BORDER ARMY SICK RATE SHOWS SLIGHT INCREASE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 25.—Slight increases in the sick rate of both national guard and regular troops on the Mexican border are shown in a report today to the war department. National guard deaths totaled five and those of the regulars three and four respectively for the week ending September 15.

3 GUARDSMEN ARRESTED IN JUAREZ RETURNED TO U. S.

One non-commissioned officer and two privates of company I, Second Ohio infantry, were arrested in Juarez Saturday afternoon and later turned over to American immigration authorities at the Santa Fe street bridge, by the civil officers of the Mexican city.

The men, it is said, had been held by the Juarez police, who negotiated with the officers at the Santa Fe bridge for the release to the provost marshal. The three men were Corp. O. Hamilton and Privts. Schierlach and Merkley.
